Interfaith Community Clinic Names Building After Longtime Supporter

The Woodlands, TX (Monday, February 14, 2011) More than 100 individuals including local officials, area business and corporation representatives, well-wishers and staff gathered for a memorable celebration at the South County Community Clinic, dba Interfaith Community Clinic on February 13, 2011. The event featured a dedication ceremony for the Dr. Joel Kerschenbaum building located at 101 Pine Manor Drive in Oak Ridge North.

“For more than 15 years, Kerschenbaum has played an integral role in the development and sustainability of the clinic, and to honor his ongoing commitment the building was named the “Joel Kerschenbaum Building,” said Dr. Ann Snyder, President and CEO of Interfaith of The Woodlands and Interfaith Community Clinic. “Dr. Kerschenbaum has given tirelessly to the clinic and we truly appreciate his ongoing commitment to helping meet the medical needs of this community.”

In addition to naming the building after Kerschenbaum, Mayor Joe Michels of Oak Ridge North, presented him with a key to the city.
